DAILY RECORD-UNION

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 2, 1887

TO-DAY'S LEADING NEWS TOPICS

An assassin at Mercer, Mo., fell victim to his own bullet yesterday. The bones of his legs were driven through his body.

The assertion is made that a large percentage of the patients in the insane asylum on Ward's Island, N. Y., are either sane or harmless.

The Commercial Cable Company announces a reduction in rates to twelve cents per word. This was made in two rates at Coney Island yesterday.

Reports from Marysville and Placerville are to the effect that the fairs at those place are very successful.

The condition of the Governor was less satisfactory yesterday than on the preceding day.

OF "BLANKET" NEWS.

Says the Stockton Independent: "The New York Critic censures the so-called new school journalists for the space wasted in their papers on unimportant subjects, and is particularly severe on the rubbishy cable dispatches in the great metropolitan papers. The same tendency to verbosity is plain in the ordinary press dispatches in which the agents sometimes attempt to usurp the editorial prerogative and comment on the news; to indulge in grandiloquence and fine sentiment where facts, vital facts, are what newspaper men want." The capacity to discriminate between news and twaddle is not given to all. Some few have the news instinct inborn, but he who looks at news gathering and reporting from his own standpoint only, has much to learn. The true news reporter immediately considers the value of news from the position of the clientele of readers he is addressing. This involves a peculiar talent; the capacity to be wholly impersonal; to study and learn the tastes and desires of readers and to cater to them. As a rule the simple statement of fact is the very best order of news reporting. All attempts at adornment are crippling; comment, where the impressions of the reporter are of value, should invariably be kept from the recital of the fact. This will tend to eliminate verbiage, verbiage and a florid style. A peculiar art in news reporting is that which enables the reporter to make negatives of news value. For it is not by any means the affirmative alone that is news, a fact many young reporters fail to comprehend. Certainly what the world of readers in this day want in news reports is fact plainly, concisely stated. Verbosity, padding, surplus of verbiage have had the ill effect to prevent reading in detail. So it has come about that five readers of news out of ten content themselves with reading the headlines of lengthy news reports. As a result they receive only the thought, the fancy or the wit of the man who, in the hurry of duty and under the pressure of newspaper "rush," prepares the headings and the syllabi of the reports. That this style of reading news—and "scanning" is little better—is the worst possible method of reading is undeniable, and that the blanket style of newspaper most largely contributes to the vicious practice goes without saying. The evil is not confined to immediate bounds; it cultivates disbelief for deliberate reading of any kind, and stimulates the nervous and hasty method of "getting through" a book or a paper. The blanked newspaper and the blanket dispatches, with their insufferable "padding"—an ocean of words and a rivulet of news—of course—absolute injurites.

A GREAT deal of gush has been written in the English tongue about Katkov, so called the "Moses of the Gazette. Now, while he was a genius, a man of brilliant parts and high attainments, he was by no means a demigod in literature, journalism or politics. He wrote with vigor, certainly, but why not, with all the power of the Russians at his back? He represented the absolutism of the Czar and the unbending policy of the haughty government of Russia. He could not, therefore, have been independent in the sense in which independence and "spirit" are understood in America. The doctrines which Katkov advocated would sink all republics and wreck free governments forever, if they could be put into universal force. The patriotic Pole is not likely to esteem Katkov a great man, since he denied that self-government is a human right. His Gazette was really the voice of tyrannous power and unmerciful hatred of any one who dared to doubt the wisdom of Russian governmental policies. Had he been a priest, tolerance would have been an unknown virtue with him. He was a political Calvinist, and anathematized every Russian who dared to think for himself in a direction divergent from the crown policy. He was a man of great personal power, indomitable energy and stubborn will. He made the Gazette known the world over, and its opinions more feared than respected at home. But that American adoration of this journalistic High and Russian leader should be manifested, is not creditable to American intelligence and judgment of what constitutes the great man. The autocrats in Russia may very well pay tribute to Katkov's memory; it may be difficult for them to find another who can do them such eminent service.

It is an old and worn-out proverb, but as true today as ever, that "the ear makes the most noise when one looks his way." There are small souls in plenty in this world who are forever snarling at the heels of others simply to attract their attention, and who are happy if they receive no more than a kick. But the wise policy is to administer not even so much as that. "Though the dogs bark, the moon sails on," says a Spanish proverb. There is a vast deal of time and human energy thrown to the dogs, literally, by those who permit themselves to be worried by small things and annoyed by the envious. Daniel Webster was once asked why he did not reply to the scurrilous railing against him of a pigmy statesman. "Bliss your soul," replied the great statesman, "I didn't know he had assailed me; really I haven't time to hear such things." The weightier considerations of life and its activities lifted him above the atmosphere in which the curs barked at him. If men, conscious of the integrity and soundness of their cause, give up to all that is said of them, and determine to strike back whenever any of the people of Littleput exert themselves in fruitless assault, they will presently find time for no other employment. Leave the little things of worry and the little assailants to sting themselves to death. Choose rather contests in which there is something worthy of the purpose of life for which to battle.

THE Canadian Government does itself no credit in its contention with the Manitobans. The latter desire to build a line of rail independent of the Canadian Pacific, in order to reach the markets of the United States. But the Dominion Government interferes, and says to the people of Manitoba that only the line shall be used which the Government carries upon its shoulders. The Manitobans must submit for a time, but since they are in the right they must eventually prevail.

The San Francisco Advertiser well says: "The people of the United States owe Senator Stanford their thanks for the courageous and now triumphant stand taken by him against the assumed Congressional power of unlimited investigation by wounding committees, commissioners and boards, into matters which do not concern the Government. He has been fighting his battle as well as his own—the never-tiring battle of private right against the insidious aggressions of sovereign power. His cause in this affair has been, in reality, the cause of the people as truly as was John Hampden, in England, when he withstood the King in the matter of the ship-money."

DR. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES is impressed with the value of a name for once in his life. Writing to J. R. Randall, author of "Maryland!" My Maryland!" he praises him for the genuine poetic tone and the life-like spirit of that lyric composition. But the witty doctor added that it would be the regret of his life-time that he could never write a "Massachusetts!" My Massachusetts!" with rhythmic tolerability and musical possibility in it. Let the good doctor console himself with the reflection that neither can the poets of Connecticut, Mississippi, New York, or of scarce another State in the Union, venture upon alliterative, lyrical or melodious changes with the names of their States.

The Governor of Missouri, through his Adjutant-General, has issued an order permitting military organizations of other States to pass through Missouri, going and coming to the Constitutional Centennial celebration at Philadelphia in the present month. There may be some law of the State of Missouri that prohibits the passage of the troops of other States through that one without the consent of the Governor. If there is such a statute, it is a very foolish one. The order of the Governor sounds altogether too much like the proclamation of royal assent in a monarchial State.

WILL the San Jose and Los Angeles newspapers oblige suffering exchanges by ceasing their "nagging" and exchange of "You lie?"

Honor to Those Entitled to It.

Hurrah for Leland Stanford! In all his evidence and statements before the United States Special Railroad Commissioners he has evinced the powers of a great and practical mind. Not such a chieftain as Alexander, Caesar or Napoleon, coming home from battle-fields red with the blood of the slain, but a conqueror of Nature's obstacles; and a conqueror of the world of men.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Auditor Files His Answer.

City Auditor McKee, through his counsel—City Attorney Hart and Catlin & White—filed yesterday his answer to the complaint of J. T. Griffiths, President of the Board of Fire Commissioners, who on Wednesday night suit to have him restrained from sending out a circular, followed at the meeting of Commissioners Croman and Slater, in the sick-chamber of the former, Wednesday morning. In the answer it is admitted that the meeting was held, and that it was called by Mr. Jackson, the Secretary of the Board, and that Mr. Croman and Slater were present, but Mr. Griffiths was not. Also, that claims to the amount of $1,963.43 were audited and returned to the city, and that $1,325 of the total was formally accepted by the officers and employees of the department.

The delay in the payment of the latter will, it is claimed, impair the efficiency of the department in its efforts in protecting the property of the city from injury by fire. Defendant asks that the injunction restraining him from drawing warrants for the amounts be dissolved, and that he receive costs of suit.

Serious Accident.

About 8 o'clock last evening Mrs. H. S. Burns took Mrs. G. W. Morrill, Misses Lulu and Adelaide Durval, and her daughter, little Irene Burns, aged about 3 years, out for a buggy ride in her two-seated vehicle. They were going along Eighth and K streets, and while their horse shied at a boulder, one of the other ladies, in an effort to assist Mrs. Burns in controlling the animal, caught hold of one of the lines and pulled in such a way as to upset the buggy, and the occupants were thrown out. Mrs. Burns had her hip dislocated and suffered a severe scalp wound. Miss Lulu Durval had a leg broken, and a slight bruise. Mrs. G. W. Morrill fell upon her head and face, which were badly bruised; little Irene was also severely bruised, but Miss Adelaide Durval escaped almost unharmed. The injured ladies were taken to the hospital, the victims of Eights and K streets, where they soon afterward had their injuries attended to by a physician. The horse ran away with the buggy after its occupants fell out, and was caught at the police station, dep't of Sheriff Morgan, one Phil Davis' breaking crew. Neither horse nor vehicle were much the worse for the trip. The animal is said to be a dangerous one for ladies to drive, having a bad habit of shying.

SAKRAMENTO.

E. W. Hale of the firm of Hale Bros. Co., Ninth and K streets, came up from San Jose yesterday. His firm owns property and are doing business in this city Stockton, San Jose and Los Angeles. While in Sacramento he stopped at the Hotel Johnson, and a wanted here is one which will attract a good class of people who want to live here because our products and climate are unequalled any where. The advertising columns of this issue are full of fine bargains, both in city lots and country realty. A careful perusal of all will no doubt be made by those who wish to secure good bargains.

BOOM.

SOLIDIFYING.

THE BOOM NOTHING ETHEREAL BUT PERMANENT.

Sacramento To-day is the Central Point of All that is Good On the Pacific Coast.

If any one two weeks ago would have predicted the boom that has come so suddenly upon us, he would have been looked upon as a fit subject for the insane asylum. We all looked for it, we all expected it, but the suddenness of the attack is an unprepared moment rather knocked everybody out in the first round. As a consequence there were two or three days of unparalleled excitement. Everyone was endeavoring to get in at any price, and loth went up on the market regardless to location or desirability for residence purposes. As a result many trades were made at the inception of the boom that could not be made to day. The people were wild with excitement, and were prepared to pay a dollar anything, at least a ten-cent option could be obtained for it. This class of business settled down in two days, and THE ST EADY ADVANCE OF PRICE.

The constantly increasing demands for realty came along until now a dozen realty firms came into business, and the business of the boom, as far as the public was post of the entire week, solid business men were putting their money up for farm lands. The capitalist from abroad was blanking down his twenty dollar pieces for San Joaquin fruit, and the A. and G. sharp was taking in suburban tracts and chuckling over the thoughts of the immense profits he was sure to make, as he carefully tucked the away. The average price of fruit from Europe was the advertising columns of this issue are full of fine bargains, both in city lots and country realty. A careful perusal of all will no doubt be made by those who wish to secure good bargains.

ROOMS ELSEWHERE.

STOCKTON, September 1st.—The excitement about real estate continues unabated, and the realty firms are more numerous than ever. The real estate offices are now open, and in consequence the "cumb-stone brokers" are saying "the bottom is knocked out of the boom." Some of those who have been handsomely sums during the earlier excitement are now getting settled down to business principles, and like Othello, their business is gone. Instead of the "boom being busted" it is coming on, and the sales of yesterday, as in a business point of view, were the best since it began. Good farm land sells as rapidly as it is offered, and scores of sales are made that are not made public.

Several baggage and express cars for the Oregon and California Railroad are now being manufactured at the railroad works here. The thin car bodies left the shop yesterday. They will probably all be built by the time connection between the two roads is made.

Locomotive No. 217, the first of the large passenger cars, will be ready at the rail road works this evening, and the local passenger train between this city and Oakland Wednesday, and as a rail road man said, proved that she was "a good one, and that is what I wanted."

The Marcelline says: "Since the boom broke out around the Bay, the Southern California papers have stopped talking about division of the State. When the boom shall have extended throughout the great San Joaquin basin, Southern California and peripheral areas is comparatively a small fish in the puddle."

B. Pritchard, the hay-fork swindler, was yesterday taken to Colusa by W. W. Cone, by whom he was arrested on the strength of a warrant issued at San Francisco, as mentioned in yesterday's Record.

The prisoner states that he was on his way to Colusa from Mexico to settle with the parties in that section who have claims against him.

The police authorities of Marysville captured a rascals name Wednesday night and captured C. F. Webber, of Sacramento, the proprietor, who was subsequently released on $100 cash bail. The rest escaped in the stampede that followed the alarm given by the police. The rascals, who pelted over each other on the back street, did down the awning-posts, and one fellow tumbled off the back balcony and broke his arm.

D. J. Simmons has commenced suit in Justice Davis' Court against Michael Matuki Bros., of San Francisco, for $200 damages. He sets forth that he purchased from defendants the stock and fixtures in the cigar store recently occupied by Ed. Bush, paying $100 cash, and that defendants failed to conclude the bargain having made a better offer. Add. C. Hinkson is attorney for plaintiff and W. A. Anderson for the defendant. The case will be heard to day.

The court adjourned for the decision of Justice Davis, Porter—one of the cases, involving the proposition to devote 50 per cent. of the gross receipts from water rates to the interest and sinking fund—being about to expire, and the Supreme Court having adjourned, he agreed to a stipulation has been filed with the court on both sides, agreeing to a resumption of the cause for further deliberation. The cause of Hauseman vs. Porter will also abide the result in the Supreme Court.

Judge H. A. Mayhew, of Red Bluff, is investigating the case of this woman to get in touch with the law. She was last seen along the line yesterday, and many a man has gone thither to seek a home in those ferns and well-watered hills where the grass is green in nature, the trees of pine and oak are almost untouched, and where the railroads put them within two hours of the Capitol. Individuals who foresaw the coming of the great San Joaquin boom, and the arrival of all its competitors, so far as its location, business and future is concerned.

This boom, in his opinion, is not boom at all, but simply a forerunner of the good times to come. The reason is that he is not the first to come, and the second to come, and the third to come, and the fourth to come, and the fifth to come, and the sixth to come, and the seventh to come, and the eighth to come, and the
